Lidocaine is commonly used in procedures like aesthetic procedures (filler injections, mole removals), skin treatments (laser, thread procedures), tattooing, urology treatments etc. It reduces the sensitivity of the skin; it stops nerves from sending pain signals to your brain, minimizing the pain and providing comfort. It works relatively quick, with most people start to feel the numbing effect within 30 to 45 minutes after being applied. It is also generally safe, with itching and tingling sensation being the most common side effects.
